

ARTS LEADERSHIP CURRICULUM (ALC) COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

The Arts Leadership Curriculum offers 7-week, half-semester courses and 14-week whole-semester courses on a variety of career-related topics relevant to professional musicians and music educators. ALC courses are open to all current graduate students and undergraduate seniors, juniors and sophomores. Students participating in the ALP Certificate Program have preference in registering for these courses. Freshmen can register for these courses only with the permission of their advisor and the Assistant Director of the Arts Leadership Program. For more information on the ALP, please visit the Arts Leadership Program office in the Institute for Music Leadership @ Miller Center, or contact alp@esm.rochester.edu or 274-1112.

ARTS LEADERSHIP PROGRAM ONLINE COURSES

ALP's online courses are asynchronous, meaning that students do not 'attend' class at a specific time of day. However, students must participate in online class activities and complete assignments within the weekly framework and deadlines of the course. Interaction with your instructor and peers is an essential part of these courses and is through discussion forums, class activities, assignments and video presentations hosted in Blackboard.

ARTS, MEDIA & PROMOTION: PERFECTING & PITCHING YOUR MESSAGE Whether your performing career calling leads you to a string quartet, a jazz trio, the opera stage, a major orchestra or a still-to-be-determined musical entity, you'll need to know how to inform potential audiences about you and your performances. In this course, you'll explore the fundamentals of identity, promotion, and public and media relations as they relate to a performing musician. Learn how to write an effective and newsworthy press release, construct a bio, assemble a press kit, create a promotional plan, work with a photographer and understand the "ins-and-outs" of the print, electronic and social media. Guests will include members of the local media in a roundtable discussion. Although professional photographs are not mandatory for this course, they are highly recommended. Contacts for local professional photographers will be shared.	A. Blum	Fall/Late
BUILDING A WEB PRESENCE The purpose of this course is to equip each student with the necessary tools to design or expand upon a web presence that accurately reflects their personal brand as a professional musician. Students will learn how to build a fully functional, modern website that integrates social media, audio, video, photography, and any materials from an existing press kit. Topics will include basic principles of graphic design, recent trends in web design and technology, audio and visual file formats, and digital self-promotion. Students should have basic skills using their computer's operating system (Windows or Mac OS X) and familiarity with web browsers. Knowledge of web languages such as HTML, JavaScript, and CSS is not required for this course.	J.VanderStel	Spring/Full

DIGITAL TECHNOLOGY FOR THE 21ST CENTURY MUSICIAN Your career will demand all of your time and talents. Being able to create engaging video is vital for representing the brand that will market that talent and your hard work. This class will focus on practical skills for high quality video production and enhance both beginning and advanced production techniques. You will work with several kinds of professional video rigs, digital recording devices, and gain an understanding of the scope of products and services useful to your efforts. You will complete the class with video products designed to create a buzz.	M. Sherman	Fall/Full
CREATIVITY AND YOUR MUSIC CAREER Explore ways to infuse creativity, innovation and originality into your work. In this class, you will develop your own personal artist mission statement and chart out an action plan for your career. Discover your distinct skills, talents, and interests—things that set you apart as a musician and artist—and learn how to combine those into a rewarding, creative career. During the semester, you'll have an opportunity to kick start your creative career by designing and launching a collaborative project that creates value (monetary or otherwise).	S. FUNDING THE INDIVIDUAL ARTIST: STRATEGIC WRITING FOR GRANT AND EARNED INCOME In the competitive world of grants and sponsorships, you need the tools to help your proposal rise to the top. This course is structured for those not affiliated with non-profit organizations and will teach you how to research potential funding sources, compile a list of prospective funders, write a funding a case, and prepare a basic project budget.	M. Powell	Spring/Late
GIFT AND GRANT SEEKING IN THE NON-PROFIT ARTS WORLD: A PRIMER FOR FUNDRAISING IN THE 21ST CENTURY This course will offer an introduction to the gift, earned, and grant income seeking process for non-profit arts organizations, as well as introduce the mechanisms by which a successful arts organization maintains its mission, scope, and most importantly, its funding. We will examine the various avenues of non-profit support, how to cultivate them, when and how to engage an organization's mission to enhance donor relationships, and how to strategically highlight your organization's value. The course will include a grantmaker's forum, in which you will learn about the mechanics and procedures of the funding side of these relationships, as well as an opportunity to evaluate the proposals we create during the class.	M. Powell	Fall/Early

INTRODUCTION TO RECORDING: A BEGINNER’S GUIDE Most successful audio engineers are also musicians. They speak the same language of music. But even if your career path is not towards audio engineering, you will benefit from understanding the recording process. In this course, we will focus on mobile audio recorders and computer audio software. This class covers sound wave properties, acoustics, microphone technique, critical listening, and post-production. Students will operate recording equipment, edit and process audio, and produce recordings. We will also learn basic video capture, editing and sync. Guest lecturers will speak on topics including broadcast audio, mastering engineering, and the professional recording process.	R. Wattie	Fall/Late
INTERMEDIATE RECORDING Do you already have a basic knowledge of audio recording but want to take it to the next level? If you have taken the Introduction to Recording: A Beginner’s Guide class, or started making your own recordings, and now wish to learn more about what it takes to make a professional quality stereo product, then this is the course for you. Through a series of hands-on projects, you’ll learn how to use microphones for a variety of situations and instruments, use computer recording programs such as Bias Peak, understand and apply processes such as signal processing, and study basic digital editing. This course will help you develop skills that can be applied in a home recording or project studio. All the software resources you need to work on your project outside of class will be available in the ESM Media Lab in the Student Living Center. While the Introduction to Recording class is not a requirement, students who enroll in Intermediate Recording should have a sound understanding of the concepts taught in that course, including the basics of how to make a demo recording	J. Truebger	Sp/Early
SPEAK FOR YOURSELF: PUBLIC SPEAKING FOR MUSICIANS More and more, musicians are being required to provide a presentation to their audiences. These can be very valuable learning experiences, but giving oral presentations can also be stressful for musicians. Not only are they worried about getting up in front of a group to speak, but also many of them haven’t had much instruction in what constitutes an effective presentation. There are a number of ways that a skills-presentation teacher can help musicians prepare for their presentations. This course focuses on those skills necessary for successful public speaking.	J. Stetzer	Spring/Late

LEADERSHIP ISSUES IN MUSIC (ALP Certificate CORE Course) - ONLINE COURSE This course will provide an understanding of what drives trends in professional performance and teaching in North America, and proposes ways in which young professional musicians can exercise leadership in shaping these trends to insure a healthy and productive musical future. Cross-listed as MUE 421.	J. Doser	Fall/Early ONLINE COURSE
STUDIO TEACHING: AN ESSENTIAL CAREER COMPONENT This course explores career opportunities in the extremely diverse field of studio teaching. Running a private or home based music studio, affiliating with a university or community music school, teaching at a music store, developing innovative pre-collegiate programs and much more are examined. Some topics include setting student goals, motivating your students, teaching and learning strategies, measuring the results, teaching special needs students, preparing students for college auditions, and the basics of Orff Schulwerke, Dalcroze, and Suzuki approaches. While a majority of the course focuses on the rapidly expanding field of pre-collegiate teaching, the content is also very applicable to collegiate teaching situations.	M. McCune-Corvington	Spring/Early
PREPARING FUTURE MUSIC FACULTY All musicians participate in various forms of music teaching and learning. For those graduate students who desire to teach in a college or community music school, even on a part-time basis, this course will prepare you to teach effectively. During the course, you will begin to develop a teaching portfolio that will complement your performance portfolio. You will also explore ways to organize music content for learning, assess your students’ prior musical knowledge and experience, communicate expectations to your students, and speak knowledgeably about teaching with colleagues and administrators. RESTRICTED TO GRADUATE STUDENTS ONLY. Graduate students wishing to take this course for degree elective credit will need to pay for the course and should sign up for MUE 504. STRATEGIES FOR AUDITION SUCCESS In this class we will learn how to develop both the internal and external skills to achieve optimal audition performance; Internal: a state of presence, allowing thought and action to be integrated, finding your optimal activation level on cue, gaining mental stamina and flexibility. External: the practical tools toward a balanced preparation of musical materials and physical readiness. Guest speakers will include professionals in the areas of stress management, health and wellness, and visualization as a preparation tool. High level artists (RPO and visiting guests) will listen to mock auditions as part of our training in this course.	G.McCormick	Fall/Full
PARALLELS BETWEEN ACTING & MUSICAL PERFORMANCE – Offered every other year This course identifies and connects the commonalities between the dramatic arts and musical performance. The manner in which actors perform, prepare, and conceive their roles can meaningfully inform the way musicians set about with these same tasks. How do characters/musicians learn to interact in performance? How do they resolve dramatic or musical conflict? How do performers in both areas develop a sense of flow, timing, space, and trust with one another? How do they engage the audience or define their respective motivations? During the course, each of the prescribed concepts and teachings will reveal the tools that theatre practitioners use to accomplish these goals with an eye toward effectively translating these methods for musicians.	S. Greer, M. Kellogg, R. Rutland	Spring/Late Next offering: Sp 2020
ROCK & POP PERFORMANCE WORKSHOP This course will prepare students to perform in pop and rock styles that they may encounter in studio, freelance, and other work. It is open to Eastman students on any instrument. We will create ensembles with whatever combinations result, and develop our own arrangements, based on a variety of rock and pop performance practices. Students will learn to develop and perform “head arrangements” (arrangements without notation), develop skills in improvisation, and enjoy a hands-on approach to music in a wide range of pop styles. The course will also introduce students to the process of multi-track recording, allowing students to make their own recordings, including those in which each student plays more than one instrument or part. The class will meet once a week, with class time divided between listening and discussing assigned music, and developing and rehearsing students’ arrangements.	J. Covach	Spring/Early
A SINGER’S GUIDE TO THE PROFESSIONAL JOURNEY (formerly Voice Audition Synergism: Maximizing your winning potential!) This 14 week, one hour course explores the many facets that help singers negotiate the beginning of their professional life. This includes financial management, website construction, Young Artist and summer institute program information, and preparing your audition package (graduate school, concert, oratorio and all forms of lyric theater). Classes include creating a completed package resume and head shots, application information- in addition to audition practice and helping you nurture your musical and performing strengths. This class is open to all seniors and graduate students. Consent of the instructor and primary studio teacher are required.	K. Cowdrick	Fall/Full
